

colorectal CANCER Transportation Assistance Program

Another Community Service Program of Northside Hospital Cancer Institute

Transportation can be a major barrier for patients who need a colonoscopy or are undergoing cancer treatment. Many people forego much needed medical care because they don't have a car, aren't able to drive, or live too far away.

Thanks to the generosity of the Colorectal Cancer Alliance, Northside Hospital Cancer Institute has funding available for gasoline gift cards to help patients cover the cost of transportation for colorectal cancer related activities.
